         1. Ted: Regarding NAGF program expenses (32,000), how much are other members contributing?

         5. Ted: The budget for the 50 states tournament plans for how many participants?
         6. Andy: I think 5 or so for this year, which is not as many as we like.
      iii. Budget approved unanimously.

4. President’s report
   a. NAGF (Pro Qualifier and Communication)
      i. NAGF is a join CGA and AGA Venture.

      1. Lisa: What’s going on with publicity/broadcasting?
         a. Andy: The dates have held us back but we’re finalizing broadcasting for the final four (working with Hajin Lee and Chris Garlock).
b. James: We’ve been struggling with format and trying to accommodate players but there are a lot of complications. We’re trying to include as many players as possible so we have a full field.

c. Andy: This is “Open,” not by invitation, so there’s uncertainty about attendance.

iii. Deep Mind is sponsoring a youth and adult New Year’s tournament, which will be in-person.
   1. James answers Terry’s general inquiry about youth tournaments:
      There will be several groupings, probably for folks under 18. Details not yet finalized.

iv. Discussion of communications between NAGF/AGA.
   1. Lisa: Should there be a general assembly meeting w/ AGA reps? The by-laws seem to indicate something like that.
   2. Andy: I should be better about reporting as the AGA rep.
   3. Devin: Having an alternative communication system, e.g. Slack, for ongoing projects and updates seems important. Some suggestion that email is more practical.
   4. James: I think the comments about these assembly meetings is about making sure the AGA and CGA board members are comfortable with NAGF activities.
   5. Terry: Do Mexican players get invited to these NAGF events?
      a. James: COVID continues to be an issue with visas and border issues, but they were invited.

b. Update on international matters:
   i. IGF main event: (IGF led by South Korea) Amateur World Go Championships. Was in Russia this year, will be in China in 2022.
   ii. IGF will resubmit a new application to be recognized by IOC.

      1. Ryan Li and Stephanie Yin will represent the AGA in the main competition.
      2. Parallel handicap competition with Lisa and Andy as representatives because they won the preliminary tournament in December 2019.

c. Finances
   i. Modest surplus, balance sheet has expanded, Jitasa does book-keeping and is going to update the codes for future reports.
